

Long Road Home

Charlie Simpson

There's something in your heart telling you to stay
So please give it a thought at least another day
If your decision sticks then I won't be in your way
I thought you never wanted us to be apart?

But you know it's such a long road home
And you can't just make it alone
It's such a long way home
If you let go you're undone
It's such a long road home
You'll never recall we ever met at all
It's such a long way home

It's such a foreign thought for me to comprehend
When everything we love will somehow meet its end
The day will always break but not for anyone's sake
I thought you never wanted us to be apart?

But you know it's such a long road home
And you can't just make it alone
It's such a long way home
If you let go you're undone
It's such a long road home
You'll never recall we ever met at all
It's such a long way home

How do I have nothing left?
How do I have nothing left?

It's such a long road home
It's such a long road home
If you let go you're undone

But you know it's such a long road home
And you can't just make it alone
It's such a long way home
If you let go you're undone
It's such a long road home
You'll never recall we ever met at all
It's such a long way home
