

Still Young

Charlie Simpson

I woke up inside this house
Your face reminds me of all this
But it's what you said
That haunts me still

Oh my dearest friend
How have I done this to you again
As we watch the waves dissipate
All along the shore

But tonight let's dance like animals
We are still young enough to hope for more
Let's move like an avalanche
For all the days we threw away
We're still young

The night wraps its arms around me
And carries me on 'till the morning
Have we lost our way
Have we lost our faith?

The fire in the drive
Will bring my baby home again
But the dust-laden chest lays bare
For another year

And oh my dearest friend
How have I done this to you again
As we watch the waves dissipate
All along the shore

But tonight let's dance like animals
We are still young enough to hope for more
Let's move like an avalanche
For all the days we threw away
We're still young

Silence holds us in its arms
Silence holds us in its arms
Silence holds us in its arms

But tonight let's dance like animals
We are still young enough to hope for more
Let's move like an avalanche
For all the days we threw away
We're still young
