

Any Minute Now

Charlotte Martin

Zipped up my mouth
My tongue split
The hemisphere
My tongue split the hemisphere
Should I spit the words out
On a little piece of broken mirror
Little piece of broken mirror
My reflection
Is a woman I do not know
Thunderclouding
'Cause she hasn't got far to go
I haven't got far to go

I been weighing this back and forth here
Now I know I must tell the truth
'Cause it's busting out every door in me
And it's filling up both my shoes

I tried walking
But my feet are nailed to the floor
I tried talking
But lips are a little sore
My mouth got a little sore

I been weighing this back and forth here
Now I know I must tell the truth
'Cause it's busting out every door in me
And it's filling up both my shoes

And any minute now
Any minute now now
Any minute now how

My walls are ready
Ready to be knocked down
A little crazy
I'm breaking some heavy ground
I'm breaking some heavy

Any minute now
Any minute now
Any minute now
Any minute now
