

Spine

Charlotte Martin

Like a mountain I have been forgotten
Standing in the second of a chance
Running is a loaded gun you borrowed
You and I the beggars in this dance

How did I let you slip away so quiet
Smoking up the shadow of between
Hear the static, pace the room forever
You and I we make it hard to breathe

You don't wanna go
Don't wanna stay
I watch your spine to give half way
You get so scared and talk too brave
Can't let us die, can't let us die away
It's dangerous to believe
Trying to receive

Years go by and still there's inflammation
I had so many nights where I lost heart
Your sudden escape plans of resurrection
You didn't want to watch me fall apart

My hand over hand mouth over mouth
Wish I could stick us too the ceiling
You can hear me out
Powerful fierce sharp and alive
You're the addiction I admit I'll chase till you comply
So comply

You don't wanna go
Don't wanna stay
I watch your spine give out half way
You get so scared and talk too brave
Can't let us die, can't let us die away

Close the windows, let's trap the passion
Of our madness and our reaction
She's no more than a vacant distraction
I know, I know

Don't wanna go
Don't wanna stay
I watch your spine give out half way
You get so scared but talk too brave
Can't let us die can't let us die away
We were the sun, we were the sea
Maybe you never wanted to be me
You were my air my everything
I'm wide awake and you're still half asleep
It's dangerous to believe
I'm trying to receive
It's dangerous to believe
Trying to receive
I'm on the edge I'm on the edge
I'm on the edge I'm on the edge
I'm on the edge I'm on the edge
