

It's Never Too Late

China Crisis

We've just begun
To see in a different way
No summer sun
Or common green to place
On distant shore
That's what I'm searching for

And if you believe
It's never too late, too late to see
And if you believe
It's never too late for you and me

Too little, too late
Too much to understand
Why should we wait
To join in hand in hand
And walk away, and walk away

And if you believe
It's never too late, too late to see
And if you believe
It's never too late for you and me

Don't hesitate
Or turn your back away
It's never too late
To see in a different way
Some distant shore
That's what we're searching for
