

Haunts Me

Chris Crocker

I'm thinking 'bout you

I'm trying not to blame myself
For how everything went down
But the truth is about to come out
I know I acted like a clown

You really, really fit me well
Now I'm a burden
Now I burn to nothing
Sweetest candy

The back of me
But back for me
I guess this is bye, baby
I guess this is bye, baby

I'm closing my eyes and I'm biting my lips
And I think of what I wouldn't give
To feel you, boy
To feel you, boy

I'm closing my eyes and I'm biting my lips
And I think of what I wouldn't give
To feel you, boy
To feel you, boy

It haunts me, haunts me, haunts, haunts me
Oh, all night long, to think I did you wrong
It haunts me, haunts me, haunt
I lost out on love and you, you gave up
It haunts me, ooh

I'll admit, I get dramatic and then I cut you off
But you had my mind ecstatic
I wanted something clear, my dear

You really, really felt like hell when I knew you weren't coming back to me
It wasn't meant to be

I'm closing my eyes and I'm biting my lips
And I think of what I wouldn't give
To feel you, boy
To feel you, boy

It haunts me, haunts me, haunts
To think I did you wrong
That's why I'm singing this song
It haunts me, haunts me, haunts
And you lost me, boy
I don't know just where the hell you're going

You lost me, lost me, lost
Oh it haunts me all night long
To think you're moving on

It haunts me, haunts me, haunts

'Cause now we're moving on
Oh, it haunts it (haunts)
It haunts me

You stay on my mind all night
You stay on my mind all night
But just know

We could've been forever
But all we were was a moment
We could've been forever
I guess this is why we chose it

We could have been forever
But you, you gave in
You wanted her, you wanted her, you wanted her
You wanted her, you wanted her

It haunts me, haunts me, haunts
To think I did you wrong, that's why I'm singing this song
It haunts me, haunts me, haunts
To think I did you wrong, that's why I'm singing this song
It haunts me