

Drift Away

Chris Norman

I remember standing by the ocean
Watching waves come in
I remember stripped of all emotions
Shedding off my skin

And it feels so cold, feels so cold
As you drift away

I remember finding out all about you
The colour of your eyes
Yes I remember when I couldn't live without you
And the sound of your goodbyes

Feel so cold, feel so cold
As you drift away
And it feels so cold, feels so cold
As you drift away

Oh what a day, a day it was
When I held you in my arms
And oh what a night, a night it was
When you stayed with me 'til the dawn

Do you remember
How we were together
Did you play me for a fool
I couldn't imagine
That you'd mean to hurt me ever
That you meant to be so cruel

But it feels so cold, feels so cold
As you drift away
It feels so cold, feels so cold
As you drift away

Drift away, drift away
Drift away, drift away
