

Find My Way

Chris Norman

So you think you know who I am
Did you think our love would last forever
We're two ships passing in the night
And I set my sails for stormy weather

Oh I am lost with no-one to guide me
Like a fugitive with nowhere to hide

I got an empty heart that's looking for a home
I'm searching everywhere for a shelter in the storm
I got to let my spirit fly, an empty shell a silent cry
'Cos this could be my last chance to try and find my way

The circus has all been and gone
And it looks as though it's gone forever
I've stayed my welcome far too long
I just looked away and it was over

So I must go and leave you behind me
Before your love is bleeding me dry

I got an empty heart that's looking for a home
I'm searching everywhere for a shelter in the storm
I got to let my spirit fly, an empty shell a silent cry
'Cos this could be my last chance to try and find my way
It's a heavy load,
But this could be my last chance to try and find my way

Baby don't cry, don't ask yourself why
It's alright to feel this way you're only human

I got an empty heart that's looking for a home
I'm searching everywhere for a shelter in the storm
I got to let my spirit fly, an empty shell a silent cry
'Cos this could be my last chance to try and find my way
It's a heavy load,
Oh but this could be my last chance to try and find my way
