

When The Midnight Hour Is Calling

Chris Norman

Baby you look troubled
Has the world been treating you bad
Do you find yourself forgetting
Have the good things all turned bad

Baby you look tired
Come and lay down next to me
I will stroke away your worries
'Til it's time for you to sleep

When the midnight hour is calling
And your heart's still beating strong
I'll be there to stop you falling down
Give you strength to carry on
Yeah, when the midnight hour is calling
You will never be alone

Baby don't you worry
Everything will work out fine
We are children of the universe
Yeah we're children of our time

Now baby it's alright now
So keep a peace within your soul
Take the weight from off your shoulders
It is still a beautiful world

When the midnight hour is calling
And your heart's still beating strong
I'll be there to stop you falling down
Give you strength to carry on
Yeah, when the midnight hour is calling
You will never be alone