Temper Anthem

Chronic Future

I told you something different And you didn't listen But when it's something of your interest You found ways to make it your business Now I'm missing the sentence you lent with your essence And you believed that your presence Would over ride mine with a lesson Leaving an impression But instead I ignored you Like I was bored and it floored you Hurting worse than a sore tooth your core grew blue and Black and you Threw attacks as the concrete with your feet thinking It would make it Better at least settle your rage cause I didn't give Full attention to The topic engaged mentally you would have enslaved my Brave heart and Engraved from the start of the conversation was Intuition telling me Yelling in fact that I should turn around now cause This shit could get Wack

When you conversate you either walk away With more concentrated energy than you came Or exhausted and not quite feeling the same

A penny for a thought A thousand dollars for 30 seconds of meditation Hey yo guess what I bought Three grand in patience and a million pages To say shit to Instead of you Who would waste the information I grew Tasteless space heads making living faces look dead You critical cynical bit the bate the the hooks red Interrogate what the book said Cause the pages eradicated what you learned instead Perfection is gained through where you're at And where you want to be I'm my own psychiatrist Cause talking to myself is free You're walking like an elf that's three feet high And more mighty than his size You'll be finding a prize in a world called compromise Instead your off in skies of your own Signal on rome no intentions of going home While I'm showing you this poem If it's distractions that keep satisfaction in self Than keep attracting that But don't get mad an no one else

When you conversate you either walk away With more concentrated energy than you came Or exhausted and not quite feeling the same How come you always pull that stupid shit in front of $\ensuremath{\mathsf{Me}}$

You're embarrassing and no one cares to see where you $\ensuremath{\mathsf{Be}}$

Well well going off the deep end must be an every day Thing wo wo wo

Wait what'd you say? I'm saying man with me you can't Hang oh that's too

Bad why? cause I could have shared something what could You possibly

Teach me? the power of killing assumption see this Compilation of words

Doesn't have to be negative the conversation preferred Is conducted with

Proper etiquette like I speak? then I speak each Energizing in due

Timing I'm glad you're getting it now lets settle it With some rhyming

We like the confidence of talking sense without the Negligence we now

Have more respect and less regret to what we said if we Checked our step

And every breath before we spoke this world would be $\ensuremath{\mathsf{Swirled}}$ in a

Gallery of hope
