Citizen

We both fell asleep on the floor, then I left you there We spent so many days alone, so I'll kill myself to make things fair
See I just hated being tired cause I can't seem to sleep any mo re
You and all your friends were all right about me all along

Do you sleep anymore?

Now I'd love to be patient, but I just won't wait Getting sick and tired of the smile that I fake everyday Now I'd love to speak my mind, but I can't think straight
And I would love to feel alive again, but I'm not used to chang

Do you sleep anymore?

And if it make's you feel better, I'll be on my way
You know all this time I sit around and think, but there's noth ing to say
And if you want to feel better, I'll stay out of your way
And I would love to feel alive again, but I guess that can wait

Do you sleep anymore?
