Lost In A Contraption

I was lost in a contraption Took me days to find direction Suddenly the moments collide

Finally found the fault in father Family blood dilutes the water I was dazed in my direction tonight

Photographed when he hit the ground No one minds That's my blind side

I was lost and you're to blame A man of doubt gave me a name The obvious was too hard to find

To watch me try is out of line The sun will shine

To watch me die Is out of line The sun will still shine

What's mine is mine The sun will still shine
