

You Thought I'd Never Be

Cody Johnson

How wrong am I for getting over you
How wrong am I for playing the same old fool
How wrong are you for playing with my heart
I guess being lonely is a mighty good place to start

So baby don't mind those empty sheets
Where you and I used to be
You made the bed in which you sleep
They say hindsight's twenty-twenty
Well maybe now you'll see...
I've always been the man you thought I'd never be

Baby I've always been right in from of your eyes
Waitin' on you to change your mind
But that day has come and gone and I'm sorry you're left behind
I wanna thank you for lettin' me see the light in someone else's eyes

So baby don't mind those empty sheets
Where you and I used to be
You made the bed in which you sleep
They say hindsight's twenty-twenty
Well maybe now you'll see...
I've always been the man you thought I'd never be....yea

Well I hope your nights get longer layin' in your lonely bed
And I hope your sheets get colder relivin a love that's already dead
And I hope you've found what you're lookin for and all your selfish pride...
Cause baby you'll be the only one losin' any sleep tonight

So baby don't mind those empty sheets
Where you and I used to be
You made the bed in which you sleep
They say hindsight's twenty-twenty
Well maybe now you'll see...
I've always been the man you thought I'd never be...