

Are we still awake or is
Man just dreaming in digital?
So close to eternity
Is this world what we've waited for?

Welcome the end of fear, welcome the end of pain
This is the end of all imperfection
Welcome the end of love, welcome the end of hate
Push to reset your fate

All this time we've taken for granted
What makes life so beautiful by design?
It's the circle and the line, nothing good can stay alive
In time we will be transcendent
Just to prove we're divine

Just to prove we're divine

Hold on while we're swept away
In our image, made to belong
Have we turned another page
Just to find ourselves in the fall

Welcome the end of fear, welcome the end of pain
This is the end of all imperfection
Welcome the end of love, welcome the end of hate
All those who fear the grave

Bow to the end of fear, bow to the end of pain
Worship the end of all inspiration
Bow to the end of love, bow to the end of hate
Push to reset your fate

All this time we've taken for granted
What makes life so beautiful by design?
It's the circle and the line, nothing good can stay alive
In time we will be transcendent
Just to prove we're divine
(Just to prove we're divine)

"Would you like to live forever
No borders, no boundaries
Nothing to stop you from becoming
That which defines your most sublime dreams?
Is it not at human nature to define such a revelation?
Is it not the divine which has led you here?"

Is this the answer, is this the dream?
To live forever and become machines?
Our memories will fade but we'll always remember
One last mistake

All this time we've taken for granted
What makes life so beautiful by design?
It's the circle and the line, nothing good can stay alive
In time we will be transcendent
Just to prove we're divine

Just to prove we're divine, divine, divine, divine