

Mary Won't You Warm My Bed

Colin Blunstone

I have climbed up every mountain
Sailed on every sea
Traveled on every highway
Wondering where else can she be
But I never for a moment ever lost my peace of mind
Wonder where I can find that girl
Within the sense of time

I met her on a Monday
On the Tuesday came the fight
She vanished on the Midnight train
And rode off in the night
But I never will forget the day
She gave me all her love
She vanished in the world out there
And it's me she's dreaming of

Mary, won't you come home
You've been away far too long
Where can you be
Mary, won't you warm my bed
I'm sitting here going out of my head
Where can you be

And if I should search the whole world over
'Till I found the seventh sun
It wouldn't mean a thing to me 'cause you're the only one
I've just got to find a way
To track you down and make you mine
I know I'm gonna find you girl
Within the sense of time

Mary, won't you come on home
You've been away for far too long
Where can you be
Mary, won't you warm my bed
I'm sitting here going out of my head
Where can you be

And if I should search the whole world over
'Till I found the seventh sun
It wouldn't mean a thing to me 'cause you're the only one
I've just got to find a way
To track you down and make you mine
I know I'm gonna find you girl
Within the sense of time

Mary won't you come on home
You've been away for far too long
Where can you be
Mary won't you warm my bed
I'm sitting here going out of my head
Where can you be
