

Punk still means much more than fashion
A movement made that no one can change
It's a form of rebellion; it comes from the street
And it's made by idiots like me! See!

We're all caught in a web of power
And we are all holding each other in place
Forced into position by one another
I see I'm ready to break free

But... I can't move unless you fucking do You can't move unless I choose to How much longer are we gonna wait?

I never said it could, I said it would, it can, it will, it is happening
