Pawns

The Connells

Pawns for a pauper's son Handouts for everyone Please release me with your smile Ashes to dust again Save that for mortal men Please release me with your smile And when I rise And when you fall That's the part that weighs me down The part that weighs me down You are your own worst fears Save them throughout the years Please deceive me with your smile Anxious to understand Who has the upper hand Please believe me if it takes awhile