Running Mary

The Connells

I was running Mary. And the days were growing long. And I was minding mine, I was doing nothing wrong. And the news you sent me. And the bar's upon the door. And this one caught me blind --Couldn't stop me anymore. Tell me how much do I forgive 'Cause you laid one in on me, but I'm all right. Tell me how much -- this goes on and on. I was running barely And it's hard to face me more. And I was minding mine, And doing nothing more.
