

(i've Lived) Long Enough

Cowboy Mouth

Open up the window, listen to the rain
Feels just like another storm is here again
And if you want to ask me, I love to stayin' in Listening to the water hit the wind
I have always known a hunger for your kiss
Even when I didn't know that you exist
Like trying to find a teardrop hidden in the mist

'Cause I've lived long enough without you
And you see it in my eyes
Through so many days of whispers
And too many nights of lies
And I've been trying to find forever
Behind the million different doors
I've lived long enough without you
And I just don't want to do it anymore

Why did it take so long for us to meet
Seeing you gives me a sense of real relief
You could have saved me huge amounts of grief

'Cause I've lived long enough without you
And you see it in my eyes
Through so many days of whispers
And too many nights of lies
And I've been trying to find forever
Behind the million different doors
I've lived long enough without you
And I just don't want to do it anymore

How long was I looking for a sign
Across, across years of space and time
How long did it take til you were mine

Nothing else seems to matter anyhow
To hell with tomorrow because all we have is now

And I've lived long enough without you
And you see it in my eyes
Through so many days of whispers
And too many nights of lies
And I've been trying to find forever
Behind the million different doors
I've lived long enough without you
And I just don't want to do it anymore

I just don't want to do it anymore
