

So Many Ways

Crash Kings

Meet me at the water we can hum the Rite of Spring
Listen to the wind blow maybe hear the old man sing
See the children beaming underneath an evening cloud
Sneaky little dreamers elegantly scream out loud

And the stars collide for reasons never known, in Rome, in seasons

Standing at the water, neverending life below
Meet me in the silence, stimulation overflow
For a little [?] nothing much to please these eyes
Shadows in ether, meet me when the seas run dry

And the stars collide for reasons never known, in Rome, in seasons

Go, take the other way, your gonna love this in so many ways
Go, take the other way, your gonna love this in so many ways

And the stars collide for reasons never known, in Rome, in seasons

And the stars collide for reasons never known, in Rome, in seasons
