

Unfinished Ashes

Crescent Shield

All fall down
Behold
The hearts that bled true dreams
Just dried away

Piled high
Dead corpses that still house
The minds that feel all the pain
We were not prepared to live the burn

Axe the libs to kindling
Show them how we take away
Cannibalize our own kind
Light the march and dance
To their demise

Higher rise the flames
That consume us all
Yet to ashes we betray
Die when we do say
Smolder we do still
Just one spark will reignite
The fire inside

Calls killed down
To dead
Come steal the crown of deeds
You gave to me

Crimson skies
From deep within the flames
We plan our vengeful return
And feel the phoenix eyes to live the burn

Gather the finished ashes
Spread to all who take away
The fire you lit is now mine
Unfinished is the ash of our demise

Higher rise the flames
That consume us all
Yet to ashes we betray
Die when we do say
Smolder we do still
Just one spark will reignite
The fire inside

Sorrowed sighs
So many we've encountered
Life long lies
They tell to take away

Only the ones who will ever know the truthful path is the way discard
Friend and the foe walk hand
Remember the fools who take away

To live another day
Unfinished ashes will we be

The insatiable thirst for the spectacle of combat and death is not a stain on the fabric of history
It is woven into it
