

Where The Oceans Meet Eternity

Cryptic Wintermoon

Burning sign - in the sky - storms rise - on the northern side
Thunder roars - lightning strikes - man the ships - to war we ride

Demons from a place unknown - where evil dwells and dark things grow
By the grace of firegods - assault our land if ice and snow

Written in the prophecy ages ago - the war between fire and snow
Demons unleashed from the darklands core - this time it's war

My heart for the lands of winter
And my sword strikes for the light
For my god I will die
And my fate is the shield of mine
Born in the land of north and here I will die

Sail across the seven seas - that is your destiny
Where great evil reigns - and the oceans meet eternity
The fortress of shadows - in the frozen wasteland
The core of darkness - mankind's fate of is at hand

Of mother of north - hold safety your sons
Oh father of storms - bring us north from here
Hold darkness from us - not death only failure we fear

Sail across the seven seas - that is your destiny
Where great evil reigns - and the oceans meet eternity
The fortress of shadows - in the frozen wasteland
The core of darkness - mankind's fate of is at hand
Sail across the seven seas - through the seven gates of hell
To the forbidden place - where great evil dwells

Moving shades of black - shining eyes of fire
Death hiding in the darkness - and it seems that all our gods have left
Approaching the realm of fire - fighting side by side
Fighting day and night - we will win or we all will die