

Open Your Mind

Cuff the Duke

So you wait on your own for a time
They can read every word that you hide

In time you'll open your mind

You're hanging swells and you avoid the pain in you
And even though you're afraid walking through

In time you'll open your mind

Any time you want, to tell me more
What it is that you felt here with me
Any time you want, come break it down
I'll let you know what it is that will set you free

Every word that you speak you're wrong
I could see the sun rise in your eyes

And in time you'll open your mind

Any time you want, you could roar
Let me know what you felt here with me
Any time you want, come break it down
I'll let you know what it is that will set you free

Anyone from the north to help you prove
So we could hide amongst, it's around you

But in time you'll open your mind

Any time you want, you could roar
Let me know what you felt here with me
Any time you want, come break it down
I'll let you know what it is that will set you free
