

I Am the Mountain

Damien Jurado

Hello dessert heat when did you leave me undone?

A bastard son to the wind it blows me your direction

The houses in the meadows have all but shed their skin and now a boneless shadow that lies among the lillies

How long can you keep your distance
who shall be my witness
How long can you keep your distance
who shall be my witness

the mountain said to his daughter the hill shall be your husband so leave me now volcano to destroy all God has given

How long can you keep your distance
who shall be my witness
How long can you keep your distance
who shall be my witness
How long can you keep your distance
who shall be my witness
How long can you keep your distance
who shall be my witness