Here

David Byrne

Here is a region of abundant details
Here is a region that is seldom used
Here is a region that continues living
Even when the other sections are removed

Put your hand out of your pocket Wipe the sweat off of your brow Now it feels like a bad connection No more information now

As it passes through your neurons Like a whisper in the dark Raise your eyes to the one who loves you It is safe right where you are

Here is an area
Of great confusion
Here is a section
That's extremely precise

And here is an area That needs attention Here is a connection With an opposite side

Here is many sounds
For your brain to comprehend
Here the sound is organised
Into things that make some sense

Here there is something
We call hallucination
Is it the truth or merely a description