

there's a light that enters houses with no other house in sight

David Sylvian