

That's What We Can Do

Deacon Blue

In your room last night when you were out
Saw your ticket stubs, unread books, your photographs
Saw your rings and the things that you forgot about
Looked around at the mess I'd sooner you'd not left,
I sat down on the floor and I realised
I'm here, you're gone, I'm lost and I finally know why

We trust, we change, we move from one place to another
Cause that's what we can do
We talk, forgive we give - everything that love allows
Cause that's what we can do

Looking out from your bedroom window to the dark
Thought about the times we used to fight, you used to cry
Couldn't see where you'd gone or if you're coming back
Wondered if you'd had the same thoughts, same time
Staring hard out that window I could see my eyes
I'm here, you're gone, I'm lost and I finally know why

We trust, we change, we move from one place to another
Cause that's what we can do
We talk, forgive we give - everything that love allows
Cause that's what we can do
We trust, we change, we move from one place to another
Cause that's what we can do
We talk, forgive we give - everything that love allows
Cause that's what we can do
