

Twice Your Size

Declan McKenna

Regardless of the motive
Blood will spill if you shoot for the lungs
You kill, you speak in tongues
You rest your heart for a day or two
Following the trail of a race that included you
And only you

Whether you come and get your prize
Listen to the man online for his good advice (Advice)
Cut your hair cause it's full of lice
Well, it only means half as much when you say it twice
Twice your size

Regardless of what you believe in
Earth will change and we must grab our beds
And get off out of range
The sun, who nobody can touch
But don't worry too much
As you turn to stone and the stone returns to dust

And wouldn't that be so nice?
Listen to the man online for his good advice (Good advice)
Cut your hair cause it's full of lice
Well, it only means half as much when you say it twice
Twice your size

And wouldn't that be so nice?
Only means half as much when you say it twice
Twice your size