Your signal across the sky
Is trying to bridge the distance
And all of the reasons why
I'm so far away
I know you can move the time
And the space that falls between us
I know you can cross the lights
All I can say is
Break them down

You are what's turning
My world around
Moving me close
In the moment
With a single motion
Even when all my stars are falling
You pull me from here to you

It feels like I'm falling down
Through atmospheres and orbits
And I'm moving without a sound
I'm floating away
But you are the satellite
That makes the strong connection
With messages through the night
When they're going insane
Send them down
Cause they're keeping me alive
Send them down

You are what's turning
My world around
Moving me close
In the moment
With a single motion
Even when all my stars are falling
You pull me from here to you

A million miles away
As close as a whisper
All the words that I can't say
In a breath of silence
All the truth
I'm looking for
Is just beyond my shadow
When I'm spinning in the night

You are what's turning my world around...

You are what's turning
My world around
Moving me close
In the moment
With a single motion
Even when all my stars are falling
