

Zebras On The Wall

Deep Insight

I miss every second I'm breathing without air.
Every day I walk through this street,
thinking about you.
There's an old man who's watching me,
despising me, mocking me
for what I see and what I believe to be.

Do you know the reason why
we travel through space
trying to find a new place
Where to escape this.

I know I've been told to take good care of all the things that I possess.
But still I always seem to forget the rules we've made,
in this giant society we live in everyday.
Everyday,
until we go away.

Do you know the reason why
we travel through space
trying to find a new place
Where to escape this.

He nervously walked around looking so frustrated. I was staring at the Zebras on the Wall, when he came to me and told me that I should, that I should... blow away my dreams.

Do you know the reason why
we travel through space
trying to find a new place
Where to escape this.
