

Dry My Tears And Move On

Del McCoury

If you don't want me
I'll dry my tears and move on
If you don't want me
I'll dry my tears and move on
You treated me just good enough until now
But if you're tired of me
I'll get over you somehow
Oh, if you don't want me
I'll dry my tears and move on

If you don't need me
There's someone else
Who need me out there
She's kind and tender and
One day I'll find her I swear
So set me free
While I've still got time
Don't try to hide your shame
Dear from my eyes
Oh, if you don't want me
I'll dry my tears and move on

Faded love
As if you need a reason
Am I out of your dreams
Or just out of season
Oh the flame of love
Oh you wouldn't understand
You hide it in your heart
You don't hold it in your hand

If you don't want me
I'll dry my tears and move on
If you don't want me
I'll dry my tears and move on
My suits got creases and
My shoes have got shine
Let me know soon I'll fine
A better use for my time
If you don't want me
I'll dry my tears and move on.
