

Idle Conversation

Delorentos

I've said this once, I'll say it twice
'cause you don't realise the thought that goes into a change like this
'cause we've been stuck like this for some time.

A smiling face, a pleasing taste are not enough to make me stay
'cause I don't want to fight like this
'cause we've been stuck like this for some time.

I know it's me that began this idle conversation
but now we're stuck for things to say and it's embarrassing for the both of us.

We heed the words of many friends and try in vain to make amends but in truth you'll find it can't be found we've been loveless now for some time.

There is no change, nothing at all continue building up these walls pretend it's fine but that won't do
'cause I've been stuck with you for some time.

I know it's me that began this idle conversation
but now we're stuck for things to say and it's embarrassing and it is sad, I agree, but you've got to understand my position is nothing you can change but time will change both of us.
