High Enough

Derek Minor

Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah I got, I got I feel like PRo 2008 I got, I got, yeah

I got angels all around me So don't ask the boy what's up You can ask the one's around you They gonna tell you that it sucks High enough I can hear the Lord calling I don't feel like picking up Who thought the higher up The more you get out of touch High enough

I been out here tryna climb this ladder am I high enough? I been turning everything into gold I got the Midas touch They like you made it boy How you feed your family yeah Pat you on the back and give you thumbs a way to go I remember when I used to dream about it Now I'm here I could care less about it Am I ungrateful? 6 figures on the table, stacking shrimp on the table I treat it like it ain't a thing though I been out on the road I been doing these shows Telling you all how to go up But I ain't been to church in 4 months I be the first to admit I ain't talking to God why I been way to focused on the climb

I got angels all around me So don't ask the boy what's up You can ask the one's around you They gonna tell you that it sucks High enough I can hear the Lord calling I don't feel like picking up Who thought the higher up The more you get out of touch High enough

Check up, plug them rights, stunt on my haters, go hate on that I bought a new thing, newer than your thing I can have everything and feel like I don't have anything oh Maybe high enough ain't high enough I've been trying to get to God my plan ain't flying off That's cause I'm confusing Him with everything I got I'm confusing what I got with everything I need I got blessings all around me, I got angels all around me I got life all around me, how I make it all about me? That's the trap Spend your whole life chasing nothing Please don't take the bait let your soul fly high above So don't ask the boy what's up You can ask the one's around you They gonna tell you that it sucks High enough I can hear the Lord calling I don't feel like picking up Who thought the higher up The more you get out of touch High enough
