

DESTINY

Destroy Rebuild Until God Shows

Inside my lungs are scattered thoughts
Begging to get out but always caught
Thought that you knew who I was
Guess I was hoping you could break the spell

The photographs
In front of me
Remind me of
Our memory

When I wake up
Put the past aside
No we can't make up
I've got a different lie
I think that destiny
Took you from me

When I wake up
Put the past aside
No we can't make up
I've got a different lie
I think that destiny
Took you from me

The lights stretch out their form
While the dim continue to fade on
No words can get away
You know just what to say

In empty views
Of what could be
Deep in my body I felt you
And I felt you leave

When I wake up
Put the past aside
No we can't make up
I've got a different lie
I think that destiny
Took you from me

When I wake up
Put the past aside
No we can't make up
I've got a different lie
I think that destiny
Took you from me

Tear the shattered glass out
Can't get back the past through grief
Tear the shattered glass out
Can't get back the past through grief

Tear the shattered glass out
Can't get back the past through grief

When I wake up
Put the past aside
No we can't make up
I've got a different lie
I think that destiny
Took you from me

When I wake up
Put the past aside
No we can't make up
I've got a different lie
I think that destiny
Took you from me

Tool and die
Put the rest aside
You and I live a different lie
I think that destiny
Took you from me

The lights stretch out their form
While the dim continue to fade on
