

Circles

Deuce

Take my hand, lets go
Somewhere we can rest our souls
We'll sit where it's warm
You'll say 'Look, we're here alone'

I was runnin' in circles, I hurt myself
Just to find my purpose
Everything was so worthless, I didn't deserve this,
But to me, you were perfect

I'm scattered through this life,
If this is life, I'll say goodbye
She's gone like an angel,
With wings, let me burn tonight!

I was runnin' in circles, I hurt myself
Just to find my purpose
Everything was so worthless, I didn't deserve this,
But to me, you were perfect

Now watch my wounds, they turn to dust
Watch me heal, so I can love
I need to breathe so I can touch
Touch the waters in the ocean
When I breathe, it's like a rush
I can finally feel the trust
I can finally lead my lust
It's like I bleed, but I don't bust
So hold my hand, see the sky, see the waters, see the sun
If it's cold, I'll keep you warm
There's no need, then go back home
It's just me, it's just you, now we're free
We're all alone
Every problem has it's hope
And I promise I can fix them on my own

I was runnin' in circles, I hurt myself
Just to find my purpose
Everything was so worthless, I didn't deserve this,
But to me, you were perfect

I was runnin' in circles, I hurt myself
Just to find my purpose
Everything was so worthless, I didn't deserve this,
But to me, you were perfect

I've gone away, seen better times than yesterday
It's hard to say, that everything will be okay
I've gone away, seen better times than yesterday
It's hard to say, that everything will be okay
