

The Phoenix

Diamond Head

While the crows are circling my bones
And I'm crucified upon their stones
I'll take the time to send off a gallows grin
Before unleashing the lions resting within

So follow me, into the death of this reflection
Follow me, the journey starts with who you are

And I'm dying... Dying while I'm dreaming
And I'm dying... Dying to rise like the phoenix

As the blood it drips down from my crown
And I'm counting down 'til hell is born
I've given death the chance to comfort me
Before she steals my breath and takes me beneath

So follow me, into the death of your deception
Follow me, the journey ends with who you are

And I'm dying... Dying while I'm dreaming
And I'm dying... Dying to rise like the phoenix

So follow me, into the death of your confession
Follow me, the journey answers to who you are

And I'm dying... Dying while I'm dreaming
And I'm dying... Dying to rise like the phoenix

Ohh...tired now
Tired from this resurrection
For the lions, the lions are restless
They crave to be released

So follow me, into the depth of your inception
Follow me, the circle's only just begun
