

Nothing's Broken

Digital Daggers

You gave me a wing I could crawl under
Made myself hard to find
We built a wall against all others
And I kept your heart with mine.

We had a dream I feared we'd wake from
So, I kept my eyes shut tight
But I felt you stir and all came undone
Now, I have no alibi

When I'm asked what I did when your world was getting bigger,
When I'm asked why I hid when your world was getting bigger.

Can we just pretend, can we just pretend
That nothing's lost or broken?
Can we just pretend this is not the end,
It's only mixed emotions?
Can we just pretend, can we just pretend
Nothing's broken?

Did I hold your hand a bit too tightly?
Smother the only light?
Did I push away your love so blindly?
There is no quick reply

When I'm asked what I did when your world was getting bigger,
When I'm asked why I hid when your world was getting bigger.

Can we just pretend, can we just pretend
That nothing's lost or broken?
Can we just pretend this is not the end,
It's only mixed emotions?
Can we just pretend, can we just pretend
Nothing's broken?

I can't let go, feel I'm spiraling out of control
I can't let go of the only love I want to know,
The only love I want to know.
But now I see you're just a ghost
And I'm spiraling out of control.

Can we just pretend, can we just pretend
That nothing's lost or broken?
Can we just pretend this is not the end,
It's only mixed emotions?
Can we just pretend, can we just pretend
Nothing's broken?

I can't let go of the only love I want to know.
Can we just pretend, can we just pretend
Nothing's broken?
Can we just pretend, can we just pretend
Nothing's broken?