

Should have listened to the warning
No one sets out for darker skies
Too stubborn to save ourselves
On a course for our demise

As the storm closes in all around us
[?] until it drowns us

(Mayday, mayday can anybody read me
We've gone astray like stones we just keep sinking)

Mayday
We're going under
Made our distress call but we know it's too late
(Mayday!)

Mayday
The storms getting stronger
Waves crashing, we're laughing[?]
As we wash away

They say it's not about the destination
But the journey you take instead
However remember you can't swim forever
Abandon ship and your already dead

As the storm closes in all around us
They'll say in the end they never found us

(Mayday, mayday can anybody read me
We've gone astray like stones we just keep sinking)

Mayday
We're going under
Made our distress call but we know it's too late
(Mayday!)

Mayday
The storms getting stronger
Waves crashing, we're laughing[?]
As we wash away

Send out an SOS but we already know
Only a miracle could save our souls

Maybe we were too naive to believe in anything
Maybe we've always been destined to be
Just another beautiful funeral at sea

Mayday
We're going under
Made our distress call but we know it's too late
(Mayday!)

Mayday
The storms getting stronger
Waves crashing, we're laughing[?]
As we wash away

Mayday (mayday!)

Mayday (mayday!)
