Gin & Milk

Dirty Pretty Things

I'm in to myself On uncertain terms I put gin in my milk To kill all the germs As I pray for the day That life will return And I pray for myself But I never learn No I never learn

See I really like you But I'm nothing like you I try oh so hard But don't get so far You get my respect But we don't connect Were in it together So I'll love you forever I love you forever

And so it rains on

No one gives a fuck about the values I would die for Not the faceless civil servants The rudimentary crack whore No one gives two fucks about the values I would kill for Give them something to die for Give me something to die for

You won't really see me I live in old movies Cloaked tightly in sin So they won't come in

Its like spying on cities Through cracks in the floor Thought I knew what the blag was But now I'm not sure What do I know anymore?

And no one gives a fuck About the values I would die for Not the basest civil servant The rudimentary crack whore And no one gives two fucks About the values I could kill for Give them something to die for Give me something to die for

Still I'm into myself On uncertain terms. I put gin in my milk It kills all the germs As I pray for the day That life will return And I pray for myself But I never learn No I'll never learn

No one gives a fuck About the values I would die for Not the faceless civil servant A rudimentary crack whore No one gives two fucks About the values I would kill for Give me something to die for Give me something to die for

No one's too perturbed About the things that I would cry for I've been trying all my life Until there's nothing left to try for No one's too perturbed About the things that I would live for Give me something to try for Give me something to try for
