Saviour of Nothing

Now you've become Everything you claim to fight Through your need to feel you're right You're the saviour of nothing now

When you were a young one They tormented you They could always find a way to make you feel ashamed Now that you are older Everything they put you through Left you with an anger that just cannot be contained

So you spend every day of your life Always searching for something to set You on fire

Now you've become Everything you claim to fight Through your need to feel you're right You're the saviour of nothing now

Everywhere around you You find reasons to Turn into a warrior to protect what you believe But you think their beliefs Make them less than you And that is a delusion that your sickness has conceived

Now you spend every day of your life Always hoping that something will spark The desire

Now you've become Everything you claim to fight Through your need to feel you're right You're the saviour of nothing now

Now you've become Everything you claim to fight Through your need to feel you're right You're the saviour of nothing now You've become Everything you claim to fight Through your need to feel you're right You're the saviour of nothing now

Disturbed