

You Fooled Me

Divided By Friday

You fooled me
Took the air out my lungs, now I'm in too deep
You fooled me
Should've known, should've known that your love was empty

I've been waiting up, but feeling down
You've been staying out
You're saying that it's nothing nothing
I can't lie; I think you're bluffing bluffing
Who did you become?
We're coming undone
So tell me what to do
Why'd it have to be you?

You fooled me
Took the air from my lungs, now I'm in too deep
You fooled me
I should've known, should've known that your love was empty

Caught in another lie, without an alibi
Caught in another lie
I'm leaving
I should've known, now you know that you can't crawl back to me

I've been moving up, while you go down
Living in the minute
Swimming in the moment
Left you behind
Now I finally know that I can let it go
I see it wasn't me

You fooled me
Took the air from my lungs, now I'm in too deep
You fooled me
I should've known that your love was empty

Caught in another lie, without an alibi
Caught in another lie
I'm leaving
I should've known, now you know that you can't crawl back to me

Said you were lost till I found you
So, why'd you find another bed?
I'm tired of all this running 'round
Lipstick, wine and wrinkled dress

So, why'd you throw it all away?
I thought my love would be enough for you
So, why'd you throw it all away?
I'm done with you girl
I'm done with you girl

You fooled me
Took the air from my lungs, now I'm in too deep
You fooled me
I should've known that your love was empty

Caught in another lie, without an alibi
Caught in another lie
I'm leaving
I should've known, now you know that you can't crawl back to me