

Sand Dunes

Django Django

The sun is high
Your eyes are heavy
High above the amber sky
Moving, moving, moving

Just when everything seems so easy
Bounce insides divide
And crumble down
Moving, moving, moving

And everyone's walking through the sand dunes
Just trying to get back home
Walking through the sand dunes
Just trying to get back home where they belong

I can feel this moving on again
Come tomorrow I'll be gone again
I can see us moving on again
Casting shadows in the dawn again

I can run again
Back to love again
We can take our time
And slow right down
Moving, moving, moving

Welcome to the start of everything
Welcome to the start
We'll build it up and move along
Moving, moving, moving

And everyone's walking through the sand dunes
Just trying to get back home
Walking through the sand dunes
Just trying to get back home before the snow
Moving, moving, moving

And everyone's walking through the sand dunes
Just trying to get back home
Walking through the sand dunes
Just trying to get back home where they belong

I can feel this moving on again
Come tomorrow, I'll be gone again
I can see us moving on again
Casting shadows in the dawn again

I can feel this moving on again
Come tomorrow, I'll be gone again
I can see us moving on again
Casting shadows in the dawn again

I can feel this moving on again
Come tomorrow, I'll be gone again
I can see us moving on again
Casting shadows in the dawn again
