

Lazy Love

DMA's

You are a habit I keep kicking
Love is the violence that keep me ticking
Take it from me this life's a reason to make my mind insane
Soft in the sun and the early morning
What are my odds but I keep on yawning
Take it from me I need this warning
Before I take the plane

And all I ever wanted from this world, it is a lie
And all I ever needed in this world, it isn't a lie

Lost it in a moment, and I'm falling all the morning
And my lazy love keeps sailing through your veins, every time

I built a trail that keeps you walking
If you need a hand I'll stop talking
You don't understand the need that's growing everything to shame

You are a habit I keep kicking
Love is the violence that keep me ticking
Take it from me this life's a reason to make my mind insane

And all I ever wanted from this world, it is a lie
And all I ever needed in this world, it isn't a lie

Lost it in a moment, and I'm falling all the morning
And my lazy love keeps sailing through your veins, every time
Lost it in a moment, and I'm falling all the morning
And my lazy love keeps sailing through your veins, every time

She's miles away, from the world that's in her head
She's miles away, from the world that's in her head, yeah
