We used to talk

And I could listen to the pain in your voice

But all that I see

Are all the words on the screen, so empty and so complicated

This world was never meant for us We don't belong here This world was never meant for us And there's so much out there

So take my hand, cause' I need you now more than ever Cause' I'm just a stranger
In this digital age
This digital age is
So over rated

This world was never meant for us
We don't belong here
This world was never meant for us
And there's so much out there

So let's shut it down
We can pull the plug and run
And run
Run
And run
Run
And run
And run

This world was never meant for us
We don't belong here
This world was never meant for us
There's so much out there
This world was never meant for us
This world was never meant for us
This world was never meant for us
And there's so much out there

So let's shut it down We can pull the plug and run
