Along with You

Dope Stars Inc.

over the time i had to change nobody else could be my aim i always lose myself with all the feelings ever could be named Needed some time for what is now i had a vision. Made a vow I never pretend to play with all the emotions i could feel because I want nothing else but you because i've no reason without you all i need to feel again all i need to tame my pain not a single day i spent with you was looking just the same because I want to die along with you