

Not Only Should You Love Him

Doris Day

Not only should you love him
You should like him, too
Why only be a sweetheart
Let him count on you

The days you'll be adoring him
Will never end
Still more important
You've become his everlasting friend

Although you might have lost your heart
You'll keep your head
In time, when love stops burning
There'll be warmth instead

Though you start in a wonderful spin
Don't end up under his spell
Not only should you love him so
But like him just as well

Not only should you love him so
But like him just as well
