Tomorrow Never Comes

Dot Allison

You're sailing away,
To another shore
My heartache today,
I can't tell you anymore

And I thought I saw your shadow In the street today But that was yesterday, Oh that was yesterday

With a little courage, in time You might forgive me With a little loving, in time You might forgive me

Believe me I know
It's been hard for you
There's never an easy way
To let it go

And I dreamt that you were telling me You dreamt of me But now I'm waking up, I think I'm waking up

With a little courage, in time You might forgive me With a little loving, in time You might forgive me

And I thought I saw your jacket In my room today But that was yesterday, Oh was that yesterday?

With a little courage, in time You might forgive me With a little loving, in time You might forgive me