

With You

Dotan

I cursed my skin, I don't ever feel like them
I can't pretend, broken in a heart
That keeps running empty
Scared of lonely
No black and white, every time you breathe me in There's noise outside, now I'm only listening
To the nothing
But somehow everything

And the world has got a lot to say
I just want the silence with you
If the world is going up in flames
I just wanna lay here with you
'Cause that's my only truth

The scars you hide, running from a troubled past
They're deep inside, buried in the shadow
Of all your beauty
But that's all I can see
The darkest skies are caving in
When I close my eyes
It feels like a bad dream
The weight so heavy

And the world has got a lot to say
I just want the silence with you
If the world is going up in flames
I just wanna lay here with you
'Cause that's my only truth

So close to breaking
But your love saved me
Our walls are shaking
But it feels like we've made it

And the world has got a lot to say
I just want the silence with you
If the world is going up in flames
I just wanna lay here with you
'Cause that's my only truth
'Cause that's my only truth

With you
With you
With you
With you

If the world is going up in flames
I just wanna lay here with you
