

Mary Queen Of Scots

Dougie MacLean

Something happened here in this cold deserted place Where mighty walls have vanished leaving not a trace Something's not quite right where ravens cast a guilty eye
And hidden reason still continues to deny

CHORUS

But Mary I can feel your pain
I can hear your heart breaking
On the silent fields of Fotheringay
I can hear your heart breaking

We give our might to men who take it as their own And in our name destroy with every thrown stone We stand the simple fools we watch them break it down But the stolen voice lies silent it cannot make a sound

CHORUS

We've found a darkness here belief has withered well away And time has sacrificed but no-one dares to say Something's not quite right
where ravens cast a guilty eye
And hidden reason still continues to deny
CHORUS