

Some Hearts

Dougie MacLean

He says I hear the music almost everywhere I go
If I should ever lose it I'd have nothing left to show
I know I'm not the one to understand life wreckless ways
I'm just a little child who believes in everything he says

CHORUS

Some hearts will fill with wonder some hearts will break in two
Some hearts will wait for summer just like you
And if you feel it's fading just turn it round to face the sun
The seasons never ending, time will turn, time will turn

He says I know I'm wilder than anyone you've met before
I maybe standing proud or broken empty at the door
I know I'm not the one to stand here naked centre stage
I can be so gentle or I can burn with rage

CHORUS

I'm watching from a distance worried for my fragile friends
In this tamed and false the tragedy it never ends
But were all standing hopeful everyday brings something new
There are those who find their summer and those who never do
